

Mining Justice Action Committee presents

SILENCE IS GOLD (77 minutes)
7:00 THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27
UVIC BOB WRIGHT CENTRE A104
Free admission + Door prize

What are the limits to freedom of speech?
Can we put a price on our spoken / written words?

Following the release of the book “Noir Canada,” author Alain Deneault, his co-writers and his publisher grappled with these questions at great personal expense after being sued for defamation in Quebec and Ontario courts by two large Canadian mining companies.

“Silence Is Gold” is a thriller of a documentary that tells their story, set against the backdrop of the Canadian justice system. It raises crucial questions about Canada’s role and responsibilities in the global mining sector, the limits of free speech and equitable access to the Canadian justice system.

*This event is taking place during
FREEDOM TO READ WEEK*

Mining Justice Action Committee presents

SILENCE IS GOLD (77 minutes)
7:00 THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27
UVIC BOB WRIGHT CENTRE A104
Free admission + Door prize

What are the limits to freedom of speech?
Can we put a price on our spoken / written words?

Following the release of the book “Noir Canada,” author Alain Deneault, his co-writers and his publisher grappled with these questions at great personal expense after being sued for defamation in Quebec and Ontario courts by two large Canadian mining companies.

“Silence Is Gold” is a thriller of a documentary that tells their story, set against the backdrop of the Canadian justice system. It raises crucial questions about Canada’s role and responsibilities in the global mining sector, the limits of free speech and equitable access to the Canadian justice system.

*This event is taking place during
FREEDOM TO READ WEEK*

Mining Justice Action Committee presents

SILENCE IS GOLD (77 minutes)
7:00 THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27
UVIC BOB WRIGHT CENTRE A104
Free admission + Door prize

What are the limits to freedom of speech?
Can we put a price on our spoken / written words?

Following the release of the book “Noir Canada,” author Alain Deneault, his co-writers and his publisher grappled with these questions at great personal expense after being sued for defamation in Quebec and Ontario courts by two large Canadian mining companies.

“Silence Is Gold” is a thriller of a documentary that tells their story, set against the backdrop of the Canadian justice system. It raises crucial questions about Canada’s role and responsibilities in the global mining sector, the limits of free speech and equitable access to the Canadian justice system.

*This event is taking place during
FREEDOM TO READ WEEK*

Mining Justice Action Committee presents

SILENCE IS GOLD (77 minutes)
7:00 THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27
UVIC BOB WRIGHT CENTRE A104
Free admission + Door prize

What are the limits to freedom of speech?
Can we put a price on our spoken / written words?

Following the release of the book “Noir Canada,” author Alain Deneault, his co-writers and his publisher grappled with these questions at great personal expense after being sued for defamation in Quebec and Ontario courts by two large Canadian mining companies.

“Silence Is Gold” is a thriller of a documentary that tells their story, set against the backdrop of the Canadian justice system. It raises crucial questions about Canada’s role and responsibilities in the global mining sector, the limits of free speech and equitable access to the Canadian justice system.

*This event is taking place during
FREEDOM TO READ WEEK*